THE COSMIC URGE

As Secretary of State Hull chose to put it in his statement last Sunday, the purpose of foreign policy is to focus and give effect "in the world outside our borders to the will of 135,000,000 Americans through the constitutional processes which govern our democracy."

The source of foreign policy and the force to carry it out resides in the people, not in statesmen and diplomats. Mr. Hull has been wise in issuing such a reminder at this time. It should be useful not only to the people, but to all officials making decisions in the name of the people.

The United States is still engaged in a discovery which it began to make during and after the first World War. The discovery is that its desire for an orderly and secure world—the cosmic urge—is no substitute for a definitive foreign policy.

This nation rejected the idealism of Woodrow Wilson by constitutional processes, because it was not yet ready to accept the responsibility of backing up its demand for an ordered international society with the machinery to keep order. Gerald W. Johnson, explaining what happened to Wilson's ideals, in "American Heroes and Hero Worship," makes this summary: "The League of Nations was rejected, not by the Republican party, but by the American people; and they rejected it because, in their judgment, the case for it had not been proved."

There can be no argument, in the light of subsequent events, that the case for something besides wishful thinking to preserve peace and security was proved—but the something is still indeterminate. That is why there is an energetic discussion of foreign policy now in progress. It explains the groping search of the people, their political parties and their government for adequate means of implementing their desire for security. And it explains why there is now an insistent demand for specific explanations of what is going on and what is contemplated. It is the will of 135,000,000 Americans exerting itself to find the terms of a better ordered world.

THE AVERAGE POCKET

Statistically speaking, the average pocket in this country has $152.96 in it, says the treasury department. This is twice as much as was there in the last year of peace and is supposed to explain why there is an unprecedented total of $21,080,721.952 in circulation—a phenomenon that is said to be puzzling treasury experts.

A lot of average wearers of average pockets are puzzled, too, but that only compounds the fallacy. There is no such thing as an average pocket, or an average wearer of pockets. The only average is the curious miscellany of stuff in pockets—keys, bus checks, good luck pieces, social security cards, membership cards, match folders, old letters, licenses of one kind or another, pencils, fountain pens, identification cards, scraps of paper, tobacco crumbs, knives, handkerchiefs, patent inhalers for clearing nasal passages, small change, pictures of children, lint, memorandum books—but no $152.96.

Statistics, again have affronted the ordinary common sense of the ordinary citizen. The treasury department should say what it means: That if the money in circulation were taken out of sugar bowls, lock boxes, tin cans, from under mattresses and from the scandalous hoards of cash like those amassed by the late "Big Bill" Thompson of Chicago and were thereafter to be divided up share and share alike among all of us, we would have $152.96 apiece. We are only kidding when we talk about that, though, and the treasury department must have been kidding, too.

TOKEN OF GOOD FAITH

Acknowledgment by Switzerland of $1,000,000 as the first installment for damages in the accidental bombing of Schaffhausen by United States airmen April 1 is a sound development in this government's emerging position on the rights of neutral nations. Switzerland is deeply respected for its important services in a role of neutrality—services which prove that its neutrality is more than a legality. The United States, therefore, feels that more than a formal apology is in order for the destruction of life and property in Schaffhausen.

By the same token, this government should recognize the obligation to respect the rights of all neutrals to the extent that they are neutral in fact, as well as in name. The problem is difficult; it was difficult when the United States still was neutral in name, after it had abandoned neutrality in fact by the lend-lease act. In that connection, it can be said only that its citizens were reconciled to the consequences of their position—and now feel that the citizens of other governments should hold the same attitude. Neutrality commands respect only to the extent that it is not used as a cloak for unneutral acts. Switzerland's neutrality in the war so far is unquestioned.

SPECULATION AND MR. WALLACE

Vice President Wallace cannot be counted on as a possible candidate for renomination until someone else is counted in. Between now and the Democratic convention next July, speculation and Mr. Wallace will be synonymous.

Announcement of his forthcoming trip to Chungking, naturally, piles fuel on the flames for the obvious reason that it would take Mr. Wallace out of the country during the time when his political future would be at stake. It would cast over him, furthermore, the aura of preoccupation with international affairs during a period when preoccupation with domestic affairs would be vastly better publicity for a man seeking the vice presidency of the United States. Mr. Wallace, like Wendell Willkie, already is famous for the breadth of his viewpoint; he is not famous for his grasp of the problems of administering the immediate affairs of the United States.

In short, there are no political possibilities in a trip to Chungking before the Democratic convention. That does not bar Mr. Wallace from consideration, but it does suggest that he is not being built up for the vice presidential nomination, let alone the presidential nomination which some of his admirers have had in mind for him.

THE STARS SAY:

For Saturday, April 15

AN EXTREMELY lively and enterprising day is based on interesting sidereal operations, which stress the unusual if not the spectacular. All pertaining to writings, correspondence, communications, agencies and traveling, are likely to be promoted under high pressure and with lucrative and gratifying returns. Nevertheless all pertaining to youthful and romantic enjoyments or celebrations are stressed, with all sorts of novelty and ingenuity in the public eye. A playtime of unusual adventure is probable.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may expect an unusually lively and productive year, with business, publicity, promotions and all pertaining to writings and agencies to the fore. This may involve travel and new contracts or agreements. At the same time the affairs of youth and romance are conspicuous with much enjoyment and festivity. Popularity and prestige are happily enhanced by quick moves.

A child born on this day should have exceptional versatility and talents, which will help in a variety of business or professional activities.

If all plastics were removed from our military machine, every airplane, tank, transport, and troop train would come to a dead stop.—Dr. Gordon M. Kline, national bureau of standards.

All the guys out there are missing death by inches all the time. It gets routine after a little time in enemy territory.—Chief Machinist's Mate Walter J. Ruff, back from the Pacific.

One of the hardest things with which we have to contend is to pronounce a word correctly that we've been pronouncing wrong all our life.

It seems such a little while ago that our boys were in our schools, playing after hours in vacant lots and in streets—and now they are the defenders of our liberty. We must not let them out of our mind.

The measure of the world's tragedy is the measure of our opportunity, of our responsibility and our duty.—Sir Wilnot Lewis, the Times of London's Washington correspondent.

Not everybody will be happy after the war, and it is much better that the Germans and Japs be unhappy than the Czechs and Chinese.—Dr. Hans Kohn of Smith college.

If you stick together in squadron formation and obey all the air rules you will come home. If you don't, you get the hell shot out of you.—Maj. Frank J. Collins, back from Europe.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Meat Inspection Exacting In U. S.

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE UNITED STATES government has the most exacting system of meat inspection of any country in the world, primarily as a safeguard to public health.

The most conspicuous example of improvement in public health is Dr. Clendingen will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

due to meat and live stock inspection is in tuberculosis.

As everyone knows the rate of incidence of tuberculosis in this country has been steadily declining. This coincides in general with a world wide decline, and that world wide decline has probably been due to more stable living conditions, especially a more regular and adequate food supply. When one thinks of the famines that prevailed all over the world at regular intervals in civilized countries down to 1850 the contrast between those and the conditions prevailing in the United States in our time should make us grateful.

Irish Potato Famine

The last wide-spread great famine in the western world was the Irish Potato Famine of the eighteenth-forties. Famines in India and China have kept the tuberculosis death rate in those countries high. We may expect on the basis of past experience an increase in tuberculosis in all European countries following the famine conditions of this war.

While general food supply parallels the incidence of tuberculosis, the incidence of tuberculosis in live stock is a special condition which keeps up the incidence in humans. And here the United States experience has shown a great improvement over the European. Here the vigilance of United States inspection has played the major role. It was definitely established that bovine and swine tuberculosis could be transmitted to humans in approximately the early years of the present century. The Agricultural Department of the United States and Great Britain (to make a control based on known figures) started to eliminate infected live stock.

But whereas the United States officials were ruthless in slaughtering and removing from market all infected animals in which the diagnosis could be made, the British authorities adopted a half-hearted procedure depending on whether the animal showed clinical symptoms of being sick or not. The results were evident to the British authorities who found themselves with still infected herds about 1925, and they adopted more vigorous procedures.

Opposition to Rules

The United States action was not accomplished without opposition. Members of a Congressional Committee in 1918 when told that progress could not be made without reimbursing farmers for their slaughtered cattle asked—"Why should the Federal Government pay farmers for their sick cows?"

The answer to that question is evident in the statistics.

I said that the decline in tuberculosis has been gradual all over the world. But not the sharp decline in the United States incidence parallel with the testing and slaughter of infected cattle.

In 1900 the death rate of human lung tuberculosis in the United States was 180.5. In 1941 it was 40.8.

In 1917 when cattle testing began there were 20,000 cattle tested and 645 slaughtered in the United States and the tuberculosis death rate was 124. In 1927 there were 9 million cattle tested, 285,000 slaughtered and tuberculosis death rate was 71. In 1937 there were 13 million cattle tested and 94,000 slaughtered and the tuberculosis death rate was 49. In the twenty years of cattle testing the human

Point Draft Plan Permanent Basis Sen. Taft Plea

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 14. — A point draft program which would place all men between the ages of 18 and 38 in "definite and permanent" classifications, is proposed by Sen. Robert A. Taft (R., Ohio).

During the time has come to playing loose and fast with the existence of American men and families," the Ohio senator said. "The adoption of the program so American people can get down to the serious business of winning the war."

A statement read into the Congressional record yesterday by the senator said that in 1943 he had deferred of fathers over 20,000, "it was rejected because of completely illogical letter" from George C. Marshall, chief of the War Relocation Authority.

He added that the administration had made a long way "with a decision at age 26. But how long they stay there?"

He offered his program, which he said was designed to avoid confusion.

Develop a long-range draft for the armed services based on probable manpower needs, agreement among all the active heads concerned. Make classifications clear, definite and permanent.

Announce it to the public as except as some great emergency clearly requires a change.

Stick to it once adopted so those in the various categories can plan their lives accordingly at least for a few months.

Stop confusing every person in the country between the ages of 18 and 38, and let the people get on to the serious business of winning the war.

"It is utterly ridiculous," he said, "this stage of the war to have men telling their families they are going to the front and then being called back home and up the scattered threads of their lives, but not securely, for might be called again on a man's notice."

President's Early Complacency Draws Republican Wrath

(By United Press)
BANGOR, Me., April 14. — Miss Marion E. Martin, assistant chairman of the Republican National committee, accused President Roosevelt today of "proven lack of foresight in the past," and asked her party's state convention:

".....why should we give him the benefit of the doubt and believe he would show any more foresight in preparing for peace than he did in preparing for obvious war?"

The one-time state senator—Miss Martin's home is in Bangor—declared in a prepared address that the opposition reasoned "that we need the New Deal president to remain in office in order to carry out the war and to work out the peace after the war."

As for the war, she asserted, "military operations are conducted by military leaders and they would not be changed if there were a change in political leaders."

While the war clouds were gathering, Miss Martin charged, the President "favored downright disarmament," delayed preparations for adequate defense, "ridiculed the urgency of a two-ocean navy," advised the public not to become "discomfited" by foreign developments and "was not on guard regarding Japanese threats."

"These deficiencies constitute incontrovertible evidence," she said, "that the President is not competent to evaluate and to counter the warlike trends of the pre-Pearl Harbor period. He erred, too, in failing to portray to the people the status of world conditions, she added."

".....just as the President is not frank with the people of this country, neither is he frank with the leaders of our Allies, nor are they frank with his....." she declared.

Blimp Rescues Airman Who Crashed In Ocean

WASHINGTON, April 14.—An hour and 20 minutes after Second Lieut. Harvey Metcalf's torpedo bomber crashed into the sea, a Navy blimp hovered overhead, dropped a line, pulled him aboard and started him off to a hospital.

The Navy, which reported the incident today, said it was the first sea-to-airship rescue accomplished by one of its blimps. The airship was commanded by Ens. Lowell E. Buys, Los Angeles.

Metcalf, of Minneapolis, piloted the torpedo bomber on a patrol off Southern California in March 1943. Tech. Sgt. James W. Laine, of Western, R. I., flying with Metcalf, was uninjured in the crash, and attached a parachute harness to Metcalf when it was lowered from the blimp hovering 25 feet above the water.

MAKE DEMOCRACY

Hitler's rise and the re-tooling of Germany, Allen remarked that we should erect a monument to the Japs for Pearl Harbor, for "getting us into the war while there was still time to win it."

The speaker, who witnessed the Spanish civil war where he said young men of many colors and faiths fought a "vicious war against the things they hated in their own countries," characterized the conflict as one fought to "make the democratic system safe."

The issue after the war is, he averred, is whether the democratic institution as we know it will be re-established in Europe. He pointed out that certain classes and groups in all European countries opposed the "contagion of the idea of democracy" because it threatened their own cherished positions.

Sees Democracy Spread

The speaker predicted the wide spread of democratic governments in Europe after invasion, if "by our example and our help we make it possible."

Allen based his comments and observations on his 20 years experience as a correspondent in France, Germany, Spain and North Africa. He escaped rioters' bullets in the Spanish Civil war, was held a prisoner in jail in Occupied France for four months, and was assigned to Morocco on special duty when American forces invaded North Africa.

His comments in the open forum following the lecture were as interesting as his main address.

This was the seventh and last Town Hall meeting of the season, and Chairman Ralph Hawley announced that a third season, opening next fall, will depend upon public support.

CONGRESS WON'T FORGET "GI JOE"

Lawmakers Appear Heartily in Favor of 3 Billion Bill of Rights

By NED NORDNESS
WASHINGTON—The folks back home, and especially the dads who fought in World War I, aren't forgetting GI Joe and Jane when they march home.

Congress appears heartily in support of the American Legion-proposed $3,000,000,000 "GI Bill of Rights." The senate, which now it, almost unanimously regards the bill as one of the most important that has ever come before congress.

The veterans of the last war who are discharged in good physical condition were America's forgotten men. Although they eventually received bonuses years after the war, a little else was done for them. The same veterans and administrators and legislative leaders are behind the men and women in present conflict shall be given the same.

The bill represents a scientific approach to the readjustment of America's 13,000,000 fighting men and women back to civilian life. It has been estimated it will affect the lives of more than 40,000,000 Americans.

A Civilian Once More
Actually, the measure offers an opportunity for the veteran—able to re-enter civilian life. It is designed to educate him, support him and aid him in business.

Undoubtedly, one of its major aims is to prohibit an aftermath similar to the mad '20s, when general unemployment and wild living prevailed and many a jobless ex-soldier, trained to kill, drifted into unemployment.

Here is what the GI bill provides:

1. Unemployment compensation of $5 a week for a maximum of 52 weeks.
2. A year's educational or vocational training for any man or woman in the armed forces with a month's service, plus $30 a month for the single student, $75 a month for the married, with tuition fees up to $500 a year.

3. $200,000,000 for construction of additional hospital facilities and care of disabled soldiers or sailors until provision for their rehabilitation is made.

4. Loans up to $1,000 for the purchase of homes, farms or small businesses, interest free for the first year and carrying three per cent annual interest thereafter.

5. A veteran's placement board to obtain jobs for former service men.
6. Designation of veterans' administration as an essential war agency entitled to priorities on personnel, equipment and supplies.

Comparison Shown
Compare this with benefits of the war discharge: pay of $30 a month awarded some 15 years after—averaging about $1,000 counting in the discharge pay; vocational and rehabilitation training for disabled veterans; some pension and insurance payments.

Referring to the pending bill, Sen. Bennett C. Clark (D., Mo.) says:
"The men and women of the armed services . . . not only hold the fate of this country in their hands, but they hold it for a generation to come. On the extent to which they can be speedily re-integrated in our population as decent law-abiding citizens the welfare of this nation depends. If we fail in that endeavor, as most of the participants in the last war failed, the consequences of our failure might well be tragic."

Apparently most senators think the same thing, for 79 of them aided and gave advice in minor revisions and then sponsored the bill—constituting a record in the history of the senate.

control German territory occupied by the Red army.

He will be the man through whom the French, Dutch, Norwegians, Belgians and other Allied governments must deal until normal peacetime diplomatic and trade channels can be resumed.

The entire economic life of Europe will be under his control, since shipping and transport will be supervised by the military for a considerable period after the war ends.

"There has been no indication that any counter-Nazi movement is growing in Germany which might seize power, such as displaced the Kaiser in the last war," one high official explained, "so we must be prepared for a completely disorganized and decentralized Germany."

Taxi Strike Ended

COLUMBUS, April 14—A strike of the city's 600 taxicab drivers ended last night when the men agreed to return to their jobs pending presentation to city council Monday night of a new ordinance governing fares.

The men walked out yesterday after the city had revoked licenses of two drivers for violation of double-loading regulations.

London Leave Gives Yank The Blues

(By United Press)
LONDON—The GI on leave in London is lonesome. He'd give a week's pay for a glass of ice-cold American beer and an evening with the gang in the bowling alley back home. He'd like to meet a "real nice English girl," but mostly doesn't know how. And most of all, he hopes to bump into someone from his own home town. Corp. Howard Steahly, a six-footer from Portsmouth, O., is typical. "I'm having a grand leave," he told me, delicately balancing a dinner tray over the heads of crowds in a Red Cross cafeteria. "That's because I arranged before coming here to meet up with six other Portsmouth guys."

Steahly had never met them at home, but the fact they came from Portsmouth was enough for him. The GI in London disproves the old adage that Americans abroad are blustering folk who know their way around. He's so shy he usually spends his first leave here wandering aimlessly around the streets too bashful even to ask directions.

Pubs Are Popular
It is only on his third or fourth leave that he begins to feel at home. This is because he has worked out a routine of doing exactly what he does at home—going to American movies and lounging in the pub. Pubs are the British social equivalents of the corner drugstore.

"Most of us are small-town fellows who don't dance and don't like sports," Sgt. Robert Whitford, Green Springs, W. Va., told me over coffee and doughnuts at Rainbow Corner, most popular Red Cross club in London. "So we go to the pubs. It's kinda cozy sitting around over a beer and chatting with the barmen."

American soldiers are rather shy of British homes, too. Invitations from friendly English folk are far more numerous than acceptances. When the GI does drop around for dinner, he usually takes along a pal for moral support. He also takes some food for stringently rationed British dinners. English families are daily nonplussed by large gifts of chewing gum.

Gwen Wittingham, Cape Girardeau, Mo., Red Cross worker who answers thousands of queries daily at Rainbow Corner, says that one of the requests for hot spots come from the boys from big Northern cities.

Like Sight-Seeing
"Southerners prefer sightseeing," she told the United Press. "They get along best in London because they're used to early curfews on drinking hours such as prevail here."

"Middle Westerners like roller-skating rinks. There must be more of them in their part of the country."

Half the Americans in the Nissen huts scattered all over England are too shy even to come to London on leave. They prefer smaller cities like Oxford and Cambridge. There they can get away from barracks atmosphere by taking a hotel room.

Pre-invasion London is so crowded today that before he can come here the American soldier must be assigned a specific bed in a Red Cross club. Otherwise chances are he'll be billeted in the air-raid shelter of a West End hotel.

But even this is becoming increasingly difficult in even the remotest villages of Britain.

Most of the beef and mutton for Allied troops in England comes from Uruguay and Argentina.

TWO YEARS AFTER BATAAN: Yanks Are Getting Closer

TWO YEARS AGO—April 10, 1942, to be exact—Bataan fell. More than 30,000 hungry defenders of the rocky Philippine peninsula surrendered because they had no weapons to fight with. But now the Allies have fought their way back almost to the gates of the Philippines. United States aerial and naval might have forced the Japs back, little by little, and soon, perhaps, we may see the fulfillment of the MacArthur pledge, "I shall return." Maps show how the Yanks are reducing the Jap sphere in Pacific. (International)

FARMER FOX FIRST
ALBANY, N. Y.—It takes a fox to catch fox.
That was the state conservation department's observation in naming Albert Fox, Steuben county farmer, New York's champion trapper for the season.
Fox averaged more than $100 weekly between Nov. 5 and April 1, the department said, trapping 75 foxes, 253 muskrats, 12 (the legal limit) beaver, 40 skunks, 13 mink, 21 raccoon, 15 possum and two weasels.

WAR JITTERS
PASADENA, Calif.—Six radio police cars and as many motorcycle patrolmen sped away to capture Irving "Porky" Wade, 16-year-old high school youth who was delivering eggs.
Surrounded, the youth stoutly protested to the officers: "Look! My nickname is 'Porky' Wade, See?"
Even so, the police suggested it would be well if he's point out the initials "P. W." stenciled on the back of his jacket because someone thought he was an escaped prisoner of war.

26,000 More Japs Killed In Pacific

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 14.—More than 26,000 Japanese have been killed in fighting in the Southwest and Central Pacific during recent months, Secretary of War Stimson said today.

Stimson, at a press conference, gave this summary of enemy casualties in the Pacific war:
Central Pacific—11,000 to 12,000 dead in the last three months.
Bougainville—5,370 from March 8 to April 8.
New Britain—4,679 since the landings there early this year.
The Saidor sector of New Guinea—1,053 up to April 8.
Admiralty islands—2,962.

Stimson said these Japanese casualties were all counted dead and "do not include those who died of wounds and of disease behind the enemy lines or were given mass burial by the Japanese before American forces penetrated former enemy areas. Likewise, the totals do not include those who died on ships and barges attacked by the Allies or who met death in air raids on Japanese installations.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Quite a stack of newspapers I left you yesterday, Judge. Aren't you in the newspaper business, are you?"
"No, I just enjoy reading different papers so my nephew George sends them to me whenever he takes a business trip. I got a big kick out of some he sent me from several counties where they still have prohibition. Particularly from some headlines that read 'Drunk Driving Arrests Rise'."

"Bootleggers must post Ceiling Prices," "Federal Agents seize 'Trick' Liquor Truck." Doesn't that go to prove, Joe, that prohibition does not prohibit?"
"I watched conditions pretty carefully during our 13 years of prohibition in this country. The only thing I could see we got out of it was bootleg liquor instead of legal liquor...plus the worst crime and corruption this country has ever known."

Spanish explorers in 1508 introduced American timber to Europe, believing it would cure many serious diseases of mankind.

gt. Kelly Tells w He Wiped Out Germans In Italy

The following was written for Features by Sgt. Charles Kelly of Pittsburgh, winner of the Congressional Medal of Honor, in response to a request to tell how he won it.

EVERYWHERE IN ITALY — It was Salerno where we landed on Sept. 9. We had orders to occupy high points and we went 22 miles inland without any opposition. The Germans were withdrawing before us. Then we reached the area where we met an attack from the rear. A patrol of 10 volunteers from a patrol of 10 men and reported to our company commander. He then sent me over the hill about a mile away from the main battle line. I was under fire from machine guns and artillery. I was the only man left standing. When I reached the hill I was alone. I came back and reported that.

Ran Out of Ammunition
I went out on a third patrol.
We located the enemy and fought. I had a Brown automatic rifle. I started to crawl up and knocked out two machine gun nests. Then I withdrew as I ran out of ammunition.

I was sent back about 1,000 yards to get more ammunition.
I got it. I went back to the first aid station for my wound which I'd got crawling up the hill. Then the captain sent me to carry the rest of the ammunition into a building. After getting all the ammunition into the building we stood guard until next morning.

I started to surround us. I killed one of their machine guns from a church steeple, loaded a 37mm tank gun and let them have it.

The next order was to clean out the snipers. The captain called me out to me as he spotted them in his field glasses and I fired from the Browning. He killed 40 that I killed.

We were running out of ammunition so I picked up everything I could find. I started wing hand grenades. By this time Jerry was starting to come out of the house so I picked up a mortar shell and started to throw them. That finished Jerry.
I found more ammunition and the house until dark. After we got out of the town. Just before the house Jerry walked in and started to fire. I fired back with my own line. That's how I won the Medal of Honor.

ACS "Dream Up" Postwar Wardrobe

(By United Press)
REEMAN FIELD, Ind. — The
reman field air base may be the last for strictly governing issue lumbering now, but take it from me, there's going to be a postwar era that doesn't include khaki.
They recently made up a complete "dream wardrobe" that does include any resemblance to war wearing habits. For instance, the first thing on the list one nightgown — very thin and erect-of shell pink trimmed with a lace. Not good for barracks, y admitted.

To top this ethereal nightie,
y'd like to have a four pocket sleeve pink house coat with an and zipper all the way down the front.

Apparently the Wacs postwar life is to night life for four formal suits were included in their list of wishes.

One is supposed to be a sleek dark dinner gown with long sleeves; other a smoky blue with yards of lace; the third a dazzling gown of magenta red or emerald green (the last of that can be worn with large velvet), and last, a white chiffon with a swirling skirt.

And those low-heeled brown oxidized may feel comfortable walking and give them lots of high-heels.
They also want hair gadgets and trunks. Needless to say, dozens of dozens of filmy nylon hose top the wish list.

They go in for tailoring though.
They want three slacks outfits—none ridiculously practical, however, with cream-color flannel heading the list.

Most of all, they said, lots of color is to be included in everything.
And definitely will not be a popular color scheme.

Cleveland Expects Buying Spree When War Comes To End

BY LEE LINDER

United Press Correspondent
CLEVELAND — If World war II should end tomorrow, cold cash — estimated at $167,664,870 — will pour into consumer markets from overflowing Cleveland pocketbooks.

Quests for new (if possible) automobiles, homes, household appliances, and household furnishings will loosen the wholesale spending in the immediate sunrise of the postwar era, according to Cleveland business interests.

Representing a fraction less than one per cent of the total U. S. population, Cleveland is said to possess 1.35 per cent of the nation's entire buying power. A market analysis of consumer buying made by the Chamber of Commerce supplies that fact.

In order of importance, according to Chamber figures, Cleveland folks will buy mechanical refrigerators, radios, washing machines, stoves and vacuum cleaners. Autos and new homes rank next on the list.

Further breaking down the statistics, it is estimated that 137,550 people will spend 16,414,785 in Cleveland for household appliance within six months after the armistice.

In addition, 64,400 Clevelanders intend spending $9,604,035 for household furnishings, while the will and intent of 36,750 taxpayers is to pay $44,651,250 for the privilege of owning a new car.

And finally, there are 15,400 residents who will shell out $96,994,800 to buy or build a new home.

However, even these figures don't tell the whole buying story. The Cleveland home builders—15,400 of them—don't include the 29,440 families planning to repaint their homes or the 11,680 who will want new roofing.

Then there are 8,480 planning interior decorations; 8,160 who are going to install new heating equipment; 3,680 who are talking about outside remodeling; 7,200 planning to build additions to their homes, and 4,960 who intend modernizing their kitchen.

In 1941, dealers sold 56,210 automobiles in Cleveland. Compare that with the intended purchase of 36,750 cars—if they are available — in the first six months of the postwar period. Also, the 15,400 families who will buy or build new homes is nearly triple the 6,220 new dwelling purchasers in Cleveland in 1941—the biggest peacetime consumer spending year in the nation's history.

The Capitol building in Washington covers an area of approximately three and one-half acres.

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie

gether. This is the solid framework upon which all future policy and international organization must be built.

With cooperation we have peace; without it we get war. That's the whole story no matter who reaches Berlin first, or who is dominant in any given zone.

One too often encounters repetition of the Hitlerian propaganda that we must some day fight Russia. Frequently this is based vaguely on the idea that we can't ward off Communism otherwise. That's a fallacious notion. There's no reason why we can't be allied to Russia, or any other country, and at the same time bar its political arm from our own domains. The Soviet isn't going to try to make us swallow Communism at the point of the bayonet, and we don't have to accept it in order to appease Moscow.

Anyway, we aren't making peace with Hitler because of fear of Russia. He knows the terms—unconditional surrender—and he can have peace on that basis any time he wants it, though he personally may get a hangman's noose to go along with it.

Mountbatten Arrives

Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten, Allied commander-in-chief in the Southeast Asia theater, made what apparently was a flying trip to the besieged Allied base of Imphal near the Burma border last Saturday and held a half-hour conference with the garrison's commander. Mountbatten's communique today reported Japanese invasion parties have been encountered in the vicinity of the Bishnupore-Silchar jungle track southwest of Imphal, further threatening the isolation of both the Manipur plain and advanced Allied bases in Assam.

(A Domei broadcast from Tokyo said the "last remaining escape gap out of the Imphal basin" for the British-Indian Fourth army corps had been cut by a flying Japanese column which took a height on the Imphal-Haichong highway 20 miles northwest of Imphal. The "flower of Mountbatten's command is facing annihilation or capture," declared another broadcast from Berlin which quoted Tokyo dispatches.)

Elsewhere on the Assam front, however, Japanese invasion forces were reported making no progress. Only patrol activity elsewhere in the Imphal basin was announced, and one attack in the Palel-Tamu sector southeast of Imphal was repulsed with 100 of the enemy killed.

To the north, around Kohima, the communique said, Allied operations to clear the road between Imphal and Dimapur on the Bengal-Assam rail lifeline were progressing.

Says Oil Reserves Ample

COLUMBUS, April 14 — Fears that the post-war era will find the United States without ample crude oil reserves are unfounded, Sidney A. Swensrud of Cleveland, vice president of the Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) believes. Addressing the eastern production division of the American Petroleum Institute at its wartime conference here yesterday, Swensrud said that due to new discoveries oil reserves at the end of 1943 were approximately equal to reserves at the beginning of the year.

invasion coastal area during the day.

London Area Bombed

A U. S. communique in London said objectives at Augsburg, Oppfaffenhofen, Schweinfurt, and Lechfeld were "successfully bombed in clear weather" with one formation reporting excellent results at Augsburg. Anti-aircraft fire was heavy and the Germans sent in strong fighter opposition at points.

The Germans sent "a small number" of planes over southeast England, Essex and the home counties with some penetrating to London. It was announced authoritatively and "small number of casualties" were reported. At least two planes were downed.

London greeted the raiders with an unprecedented number of search lights, apparently part of a surprise defense. Several high explosives were dropped on the edges of the capital.

Favored Canton Teams Defeated In First Tourney Games

Recreation Is Only Salem Squad To Survive Openers; 9 Games On Tonight's Card

With first night eliminations checking out two of the most highly rated aggregations, both from Canton, the Little City basketball tournament got off to a flying start at the Memorial building last night as the field of 27 entries was pared to 19.

Both strong Canton squads, Yale Clothes and O'Hara's Cafe, were dropped from competition in their initial tries against the New Castle and Howland A. C. teams. New Castle dropped Yale Clothes 53-47 in a fast thriller; O'Hara went down 49-47 in another close one. The two Canton aggregations were picked as serious contenders for the title by most experts in pre-tourney size-ups.

In the six other games East Liverpool, Salem Recreation, Campbell, Canton Urban, Brewster and Roberts, and Canton 20th Century came out on top. Salem's Wranglers, Alliance's ex-High, Beaver Falls, Mound Service from Youngstown, the Salem Celtics, and Sheen's of Salem were eliminated.

Wranglers Never Close
The Wranglers were never closer than half-way to East Liverpool's ex-High squad, which included almost the entire Potter varsity from the past season. Lanky Joe Barrett and Jay Springer headed the Liverpool offensive with 12 points each, as Liverpool won 52-28.

Alliance's ex-High representatives weren't quite up to the pace set by the Recreation outfit and lost 33-28. Salem led all the way with Celtics topping scoring honors with 14 points.

Campbell had some difficulty with the Beaver Falls squad, but pulled away after the halftime 16-16 to win going away, 43-34. Kurkura and Fragatone teamed up to total 30 points for Campbell.

In one of the upsets of the evening Canton O'Hara dropped a nip and tuck battle 49-47 to a strong Howland A. C. squad that came up after halftime to take the lead and win. Cross scored 24 points for Howland while Jack Mills led O'Hara's with 15.

New Castle Tops Canton
Led by Jorgenson and Pitzer, New Castle blasted its way to a 53-47 win over the strong Yale Clothes from Canton. O'Hara of the Yales led with 16 points.

An all Negro team, the Canton Urbans, turned in a lot of classy ball-handling and accurate shooting to top the Mound Service squad from Youngstown, 41-30. Canton led all the way but Youngstown narrowed the margin in the final three minutes.

Salem's Class A champions, the Celtics, didn't lose by much, but they took their only chance in the tourney, 54-49, after coming from behind to almost close the gap in the last quarter. Finamore piled up the highest total of the evening by dumping through 28 points for the Brewster aggregation.

The Canton 20th Century team won out, 37-34, against Salem's Sheens in a game that saw the locals pull from way behind to almost emerge victorious. Brendler 11 points for Canton was the best performance.

Nine Games Tonight
Tonight's slate calls for nine games, one more than originally planned, because of the last minute entry of two more teams. Kent is sending a team and another group from Steubenville will participate.

Highlighting tonight's card are five exceptionally good frays. The Recreation will meet East Liverpool's ex-High squad in the first game at 8:45. At 7:15 the Akron Class A champs, Stinberger's, meet the Brewster and Roberts aggregation that eliminated the Celtics last night. Howland meets Akron Borden at 8 p. m. and New Castle, a strong outfit, will meet Steubenville's offering at 8:45 in another good-looking pairing.

Canton Urban meets Strains at 10:15 for the first appearance of the Salem team in the tourney. There are just two Salem teams in action now, the Recreation being the other.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Officials of the United States Lawn Tennis association are slightly perturbed because they've been able to dispose of only about 400 copies of their tennis lessons for boys and girls. Prexy Holcombe Ward figures that if the campaign to get tennis started in every high school and Junior High in the country is to bear any fruit, the demand must increase sharply this spring. The association sells four mimeographed "lessons," giving the fundamentals of stroke-making and strategy, for a dime. Just by way of contrast, a query as to whether organized baseball offered any such service to beginners brought the reply from W. G. Bramham, the minor league headman, that many fine books on how to play baseball have been published but "to purchase them for general distribution throughout the country will be prohibitive from a cost standpoint."

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Tim Cokane, New York World-Telegram: "After visiting Alaska to entertain the troops, Dixie Walker thought he had seen his last of strange places for some time. And then he reached here. And then he reached here. And then he reached here."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Puerto Rico's insular basketball federation, planning to send a team on a good will tour next winter, lists a tentative schedule against a dozen southern and southwestern colleges, giving dates and everything, "subject to confirmation by every one of the colleges and universities." Lou Little, Columbia grid coach who lost that booming voice after a throat operation last spring, still can't talk much above a whisper. Al Schacht has quit the job of broadcasting the Yanks and Giants after less than two weeks. The competition on the field must have been pretty strong.

A ROOKIE A DAY

Emil Verban, St. Louis Cardinals' second baseman—the Cards' lost Lou Klein, but training camp reports say Verban will make the fans forget Lou. Emil was only a 257 hitter at Columbus, O., last season but played every inning of every game and showed plenty of speed, both in covering his territory and on the bases. His father and mother were born in Yugoslavia but, needless to say, it now is a family of St. Louis partisans.

Sisler Turns Out

BAINBRIDGE, Md.—Among the familiar names on the Bainbridge Naval line are Elbie Fletcher, former Pittsburgh first baseman and Dick Sisler, son of George (Hall of Fame) Sisler, former first sacker for the St. Louis Browns. Twenty-five answered the initial call of Ensign Coach Jerry O'Brien, formerly of Providence college.

Heads Akron Group

AKRON, April 14.—Bill Quigley, 25-year-old amateur baseball manager, has been elected temporary president of the Greater Akron Baseball federation. Frank Anderson, secretary, announced last night. Judson A. (Jud) Timm, assistant football and basketball coach at Yale, was intercollegiate 60-yard dash champion while attending the University of Illinois.

BROOKLYN DODGERS STILL ARE SAME OLD TYPICAL DODGERS

Bums Display Usual Form Defeating Phillies In New York, 13-11

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 14.—Among all the uncertainties surrounding wartime baseball, the fans can cling to one tried-and-true formula—the Dodgers always are the Dodgers.

Take for example the typical Dodgers doings of yesterday's Red Cross benefit at Ebbets field, in which Brooklyn triumphed over the Phillies, 13 to 11.

To start, ex-Dodger Fred Fitzsimmons held his old team hitless for the first two innings in his first mound task since he became manager of the Phillies. That feat must have eased the divided loyalties of Hilda (the bellinger) Chester, No. 1 Dodger fan and employee at Fitz's bowling alleys.

In the fifth Bill Hart and Stretch Schultz tried to occupy third base at the same time, with the result that they both were run down for a double play. Dixie Walker, an uncomfortable third baseman, rushed in for a pop fly in the sixth then pulled up and let it fall for a hit. And in the same inning, with two on base, Louis Olmo made a brilliant catch of a fly and then stood holding the ball, evidently thinking it was the third out, while two Phillies scampered home.

Olmo Redeems Himself

Olmo redeemed himself in the eighth when he belted a triple with two on base to tie the score and then stole home with the deciding run. And, as an extra feature, Augie Galan, a switch hitter for more than 10 years, batted left handed against Southpaw Wilbur Reeser in the fourth and clouted a home run.

Other developments yesterday:

St. Louis: Cards and Browns resume city series with Max Lanier and Bud Beyer pitching for Red Birds and Jack Kramer starting for Browns.

Chicago: Orval Grove and Hank Wyse opposing pitchers today as city series moves to Comiskey park for fourth game. Thornton Lee yielded only three hits in five innings for Sox yesterday as American leaguers won 2-0 in ten innings.

New York Yankees: Spud Chandler, joining team until called for military service, tuned up his arm in batting practice and soon will be ready to take regular turn.

Pittsburgh Pirates: Virgil (Spud) Davis, veteran coach, given new contract restoring him to active catching duty.

New York Giants: Hard hitting, including homer by Hugh Luby, made them look better in first game at Polo grounds than they did a year ago, despite licking by Yanks, 11-4.

Boston: Braves and Red Sox play first of three-game series at Braves field with Al Javery opposing Emmet O'Neill on the mound. Bob Coleman makes his home debut as manager of Braves.

Old Car Still Perks

SPEARFISH, S. D.—Ernest Mathiesen obtained an auto license for his 1908 Model T Ford and said he intends to operate it as a pickup truck for its 37th year.

Reds, Indians Clash In Third of 5-Game Series

(By Associated Press)

DAYTON, April 14.—The Cleveland Indians and the Cincinnati Reds move in here today for the third installment of a five-game exhibition series.

Up to now, the Reds have yet to taste defeat in the Ersatz grapefruit league, winning all four of their pre-season contests. The Indians, on the other hand, have won but one contest in six.

Yesterday the two teams went at each other in Richmond, Ind., with the Cincinnati boys exploding in the seventh and eighth innings to win 8 to 4.

Bucky Walters, whose advance notices this year all have been in the "rave" category, started for the winners and was touched for 10 hits and all the Cleveland runs in six innings of work. Joe Beggs succeeded him and allowed but one hit.

Wins Skating Event

CLEVELAND, April 14.—Betty Jane Philbin of Cincinnati won the intermediate girls' one-sixth mile championship as the annual Ohio roller skating tournament opened last night at the Rollerade. Six championships were taken by Cleveland speedsters.
